Edition 2026-09-12-live-v1

Before you begin

Eric opens Rep, selects the training and existing agents across teams, confirms the timezone, and creates the session. The creator is the default presenter and follow-up coach. Keep the private presenter console on your screen and share the separate presentation window.

Ask each selected agent to open the session through their own existing login. No second invitation is needed. Confirm that everyone can join and see the current activity. Submit written work before showing the model. Give one correction, then ask for a targeted retry. Open activities under presenter control; advancing leaves unfinished work available for catch-up. Show help requests and connection problems separately.

In self-paced study, notes remain in the learner's browser until they choose to share them. In a live session, the presenter sees submitted answers and progress; unsubmitted writing stays private. Preserve first attempts; a retry after an example is assisted.

For remote practice, use the meeting platform's breakout rooms. Assign pairs or trios and rotate agent, buyer, and observer. In pairs, the buyer gives feedback. Every agent needs a speaking turn, one correction, and a retry. If a partner is absent, assign a coach or leave the observation outstanding.

Follow Up Boss practice

The original five record exercises and deal form remain intact. Use fictional training records and preserve the repair diagnosis step. The simulator begins inside a contact; observe People/search navigation separately in the actual training account. A learner's report does not automatically verify navigation.

Coach where to click, save, and verify. The server check validates saved actions; it does not judge note usefulness. After a passed record changes, check it again. Each exercise is a separate scenario. The 57-minute allocation is a pilot; extend practice rather than skipping attempts.

What each signal means

Connection status is separate from participation. A submitted answer is separate from a completed action. A record check is separate from writing quality. Record who observed a speaking turn and who reviewed it; a peer observation or self-check is not coach sign-off. Practice readiness, quiz certification, and activation remain separate.

Facilitator flow

01 / 17 · 0-1 min · Find the contact

How a Zillow lead reaches you

Use your actual team routing process for the demonstration. Do not assume every notification means the same thing. Confirm access before class. If a login is missing, resolve it or use a named coach observation; do not treat watching the demo as the learner completing the action.

Ask the room: What would tell you that you have the correct record?

02 / 17 · 1-2 min · Find the contact

Start in People

Demonstrate People, smart lists, and filtering in your training account. Open the image at full size if labels are hard to see. Ask an agent to point to the source and most recent activity.

Ask the room: Where would you look for a new Zillow contact?

03 / 17 · 2-4 min · Find the contact

Find Avery in the training account

Have an agent narrate where they would click. Use the training account, never a live contact as a practice record. The embedded record exercises begin inside a contact. An agent's written report does not automatically verify People/search navigation. Observe it in the actual training account and record who observed it.

Ask the room: Explain your first three clicks.

Participant task: Find Avery in your training account. Confirm the source, assignment, and recent activity before editing.

- Where did you find the record? Name the path you used, or the control you need help finding.

04 / 17 · 4-5 min · Read the record

Check the Details panel

Point out Stage, Assigned, Source, and Timeframe without narrating every control. Timing should come from the buyer, not a guess. Demonstrate the menu and green save check, then let every agent attempt the task. Do not turn intuitive stage names into a quiz.

Ask the room: Which detail would you verify before saving?

05 / 17 · 5-9 min · Record exercise

Practice: save the appointment stage

Let the agent find the control before offering a hint. Ask them to explain any correction. This is a separate fictional case. Keep the original FUB controls, save behavior, hints, and server check. Record check passed means the required actions passed, not that note wording or overall readiness was graded. Have the agent reopen and verify the saved changes.

Ask the room: Make the update, save it, then check your work.

Participant task: Use the training contact. Check your work to continue.

Write what the next agent needs

Ask what the example tells the next caller. Then complete the note exercise. Coach one missing fact rather than rewriting the entire note for the agent. Keep source, assignment, and history in view. Background information suggests a question; it does not establish finances, family circumstances, timing, or readiness. The note check measures saving an action, not writing quality.

Ask the room: Could someone follow up using only this note?

07 / 17 · 11-16 min · Record exercise

Practice: write the conversation note

Let the agent find the control before offering a hint. Ask them to explain any correction. This is a separate fictional case. Keep the original FUB controls, save behavior, hints, and server check. Record check passed means the required actions passed, not that note wording or overall readiness was graded. Have the agent reopen and verify the saved changes.

Ask the room: Make the update, save it, then check your work.

Participant task: Use the training contact. Check your work to continue.

08 / 17 · 16-18 min · Set the task

Give the follow-up a date and time

Explain the difference between a note and a task. The note records history; the task schedules the next action. Complete the missed-call exercise next.

Ask the room: What makes a task usable tomorrow?

09 / 17 · 18-25 min · Record exercise

Practice: set the missed-call task

Let the agent find the control before offering a hint. Ask them to explain any correction. This is a separate fictional case. Keep the original FUB controls, save behavior, hints, and server check. Record check passed means the required actions passed, not that note wording or overall readiness was graded. Have the agent reopen and verify the saved changes.

Ask the room: Make the update, save it, then check your work.

Participant task: Use the training contact. Check your work to continue.

10 / 17 · 25-33 min · Start with practice

Nurture needs a conversation

Give everyone two minutes to write before discussing. Compare two contrasting responses, then explain the team's actual nurture rule and why it applies. Do not invent a timeline, assume silence means nurture, or impose a follow-up standard beyond the doctrine's first-week rule. There is no automatic grade. Review the evidence and preserve an owned next action.

Ask the room: What evidence changes your decision, and what still needs to happen?

Participant task: Compare the engaged, later-timeline buyer with the record that went quiet.

- For each case, what evidence would you need before moving this lead to nurture?
- What next action would remain, and who owns it?
- When would you review the record again?

Coach-led discussion. No automatic grade. Explain the team rule and ask for evidence; do not invent a nurture timeline.

11 / 17 · 33-35 min · Practice

Repair Avery's record

Give one minute to inspect without solving it for the agent. The next original exercise requires the learner to name the changes before editing. Do not bypass its diagnosis step; discuss the evidence after the learner attempts it.

Ask the room: What would you fix first, and why?

12 / 17 · 35-42 min · Record exercise

Practice: repair Avery's record

Let the agent find the control before offering a hint. Ask them to explain any correction. This is a separate fictional case. Keep the original FUB controls, save behavior, hints, and server check. Record check passed means the required actions passed, not that note wording or overall readiness was graded. Have the agent reopen and verify the saved changes.

Ask the room: Make the update, save it, then check your work.

Participant task: Use the training contact. Check your work to continue.

13 / 17 · 42-43 min · Practice

Check the record before moving on

Ask agents to check their own work. Introduce the deal exercise: once an offer is accepted, update the stage and record the deal details.

Ask the room: Which check would catch an unsaved stage?

14 / 17 · 43-46 min · Record exercise

Practice adding a deal

Demonstrate the deal form, then let the learner enter it. Use fictional details.

Ask the room: What would you check before creating this deal?

15 / 17 · 46-52 min · Record exercise

Practice: record the accepted offer

Check the accepted-offer exercise. A passed check should explain the evidence, not just display a result. This is a separate fictional case. Keep the original FUB controls, save behavior, hints, and server check. Record check passed means the required actions passed, not that note wording or overall readiness was graded. Have the agent reopen and verify the saved changes.

Ask the room: What changed after the offer was accepted?

Participant task: Update the stage and add the deal from the scenario.

Where will you start tomorrow?

Give 30 seconds without notes. Then ask partners to compare. Revisit only the missing item, not the entire lesson.

Ask the room: Explain your first five minutes in Follow Up Boss.

Participant task: Use your tasks and new leads to plan the next calls.

- Without looking back: what belongs in a useful contact record?

Before your next client conversation

In live sessions, closing the session creates 24-hour recall, three-day fresh-case, and seven-day coach-review assignments. Confirm each agent's named coach and session timezone. Agents see due work in Rep; the daily digest links to due or reviewable work. In self-paced study, arrange these checks with a coach. Without a relevant client opportunity, use a fresh fictional case and label real-work application not yet observed. Practice readiness is separate from quiz certification and activation.

Ask the room: Tell your partner what you will practice and when.

Participant task: Make the record update part of finishing the conversation.

- After my next call, I will complete ____ before moving on.
- My next follow-up block starts in ____.
- My named coach and the example we will review.

After the workshop

Live session: closing the session creates assignments for recall within 24 hours, a fresh case in three days, and coach review in seven days. The session creator owns follow-up across the selected teams unless a different authorized coach was selected. Confirm the displayed session timezone. Due and overdue work appears in Rep; the daily digest links to work due or awaiting review.

Self-paced study: arrange those same checks with a coach. If there has been no relevant client opportunity, use a new fictional case and mark real-work application as not yet observed.

Keep the first attempt and correction. A useful follow-up asks whether the agent can apply the skill in another case.

References and certification

Updated September 12, 2026 from the existing Day 1 workshop and Eric's approved interactive-training plan. TRU sales doctrine remains the source for coaching the first call and follow-up.

- Your coach and approved team workflow.

Existing quizzes, pass thresholds, and certification records continue through the normal Rep course flow. The presentation link is not a certification attempt.
