Practice notes

Use fictional details. Write before the example, practice aloud, and retry one specific part after feedback. During a live session, submit through your own login; this printable worksheet is a backup and does not submit for you. Unfinished work remains available when the presenter advances.

Nurture needs a conversation

Compare the engaged, later-timeline buyer with the record that went quiet.

For each case, what evidence would you need before moving this lead to nurture?

What next action would remain, and who owns it?

When would you review the record again?

Without looking back: what belongs in a useful contact record?

Before your next client conversation

Make the record update part of finishing the conversation.

After my next call, I will complete ____ before moving on.

My next follow-up block starts in ____.

My named coach and the example we will review.

What each signal means

Connection status is separate from participation. A submitted answer is separate from a completed action. A record check is separate from writing quality. Record who observed a speaking turn and who reviewed it; a peer observation or self-check is not coach sign-off. Practice readiness, quiz certification, and activation remain separate.

After the workshop

Live session: closing the session creates assignments for recall within 24 hours, a fresh case in three days, and coach review in seven days. The session creator owns follow-up across the selected teams unless a different authorized coach was selected. Confirm the displayed session timezone. Due and overdue work appears in Rep; the daily digest links to work due or awaiting review.

Self-paced study: arrange those same checks with a coach. If there has been no relevant client opportunity, use a new fictional case and mark real-work application as not yet observed.

Keep the first attempt and correction. A useful follow-up asks whether the agent can apply the skill in another case.
